A Little Tragedy of Love

She had told him that her father utterly disapproved of him, and had issued premonitory orders that he should not come to the house. She trembled as she told him and there were tears in her eyes, for she feared that even then papa might be within hearing, possibly reach, of her loved one.

But he was brave.

When love was in the van,
What cared he for any man?
He was indeed no fair-weather lover,
and the stern and avowed made him much stancher in his devotion to the one girl in all the world for him.

"What boots it, dearest," he whispered to her, soft and low, taking her to his manly bosom, breathing into her sensible ear. "What boots it—"
"I do," thundered papa, appearing upon the scene, rear entrance, and there was a dull, sickening thud which indicated that he did—William J.
Lampton, in Judge.

JIM JEFFRIES TO THE POINT

"I have retired for all time"
says former champion.

Tired to death of answering questions of when he will fight again

Los Angeles, Feb. 4.—James J. Jeffries, former heavyweight champion of the world, dragged from retirement the "white hope" and beaten by thousands of persons whether he fought again. Weary of the question, Jeffries has decided to make a single answer through the United Press. He says it is to the effect:

I intend what is written here shall be an ultimatum, the tenor of which cannot be misinterpreted. It is my hope that the public at large will consider this my final word on a subject that has caused me great personal inconvenience. I refer to the question of whether I shall ever enter the ring again.

I shall not attempt to say how many times I have answered that query during the last six months. Hardly a day has gone by without the question being put to me. No matter day I have answered it seriously and quietly. I have stated that I never shall enter the ring again. But friends and the public have refused to accept my word. At least, I must believe they have, in view of the fact that after answering the question I am in the next hour, been asked exactly the same question.

It has come to the point where I and the members of my household respond to the question on our lips. If someone were to feel patience by asking you a certain question, say, for instance, "How old are you?" day in and day out, how long do you think you could go to the door or the telephone, hear the question and answer it without losing your temper? For half a year do you think?

It would be difficult to explain what it is to go through such an experience. In my case, instead of one person putting the question each day, the query has come from innumerable sources. What I want to say is that I have answered the question and been asked by hundreds of persons upon hundreds of different occasions. I alone have been compelled to listen to each inquirer separately, hear the same metaphorical words, asked the same question. That I have answered countless times. This is the situation I will ever make to this question:

Under no circumstances shall I ever again participate in a public prize fight. I have retired from the ring for all time.

This is the decision I shall adhere to. It is a decision I made months ago. (Signed) JAMES J. JEFFRIES

Strike is on at Frank now.

400 miners refuse to return to work.

Frank, Feb. 4.—Four hundred miners employed at the two mines of the Canadian Coal Consolidated Company have quit work. They claim that the company are not holding to their agreement by not paying the stipulated wages for work in wet places. The miners refuse to return to work until the operators agree to pay the wages settled upon in the agreement. They have not, however, declared a formal strike.

Wouldn't Delay Ratification

Washington, D. C., February 2.—Secretary of State Knox has written Chairman Payne, of the Ways and Means Committee of the House that the agreement, to a wood, pulp or paper sections of the Canadian treaty agreement wouldn't necessarily delay its ratification. This fact was brought out during the hearing given by the committee today to the opponents of paper and wood pulp provisions.

Judge Voids the Warner Election.

Election of Village
Council Caused
Legal Action

The Warner village election case is being argued before this honor Judge Yates in the district court here today, and is causing no little interest among Warner residents, a number of whom are in the city.

As A. Smith is appearing for the appellant, Dr. N. G. Steele, and C. P. C. Conquest, K.C., for the respondent, Dr. E. Lettingwell, David Neil Macmillan and D. R. Yates. Dr. Steele was a defeated candidate at the recent election, is endeavoring to up the election of Dr. Lettingwell, Macmillan and Yates on the ground of irregularity in the preparation of the voters list and non-qualification of the candidates.

D. L. Goo, secretary of the village council, last night, was the first witness called and he produced the assessment roll and the voters' list from the election of 1914. He stated that while the roll was completed in May last according to law, twenty-seven names were on the voters' list who had not appeared on the assessment roll in May but had been entered in pencil afterwards when the property had been transferred. Almost all, Yates was not assessed in his own name but in the firm name of Steele and Yates, and Neil Macmillan's name was not on the assessment roll when it was legally closed in May last.

The appellant, Dr. Steele, gave evidence to the effect that his sole reason for entering the appeal was that he objected to the irregularity of the village proceedings.

After lunch counsel argued at some length on the qualifications of Yates and Macmillan, following which the case went into the box and, referring to the assessment roll, swore that certain names referring to property owned by himself had been made by him when he was secretary, which names he retained in April of this year.

Dr. Steele was not assessed in his own name but in the firm name of Steele and Yates, and Neil Macmillan's name was not on the assessment roll when it was legally closed in May last.

Under no circumstances shall I ever again participate in a public prize fight. I have retired from the ring for all time. This is the decision I shall adhere to. It is a decision I made months ago. (Signed) JAMES J. JEFFRIES

The convention also asked that the financial needs of the country be met by a direct tax on land value and free trade established. The resolution states that protection is no longer needed for manufacturing industries of the country and approval of the recent trade agreement. These resolutions are being considered today.

"Well, call her Youseehome, but I don't see that you gain by it."—Town and Country.

A Tough Beard

The story of the weak centres about Glen Campbell, the good natured clown from Dauphin, Glen came down as a Christmas holiday, and as he is not hardly with the razor the beard from Dauphin left him with quite a beard. He walked into the Russell bar, and the doorman asked him to begin to operate. As the beard passed over his face Glen began to exclaim:

"Is the razor on the right, sir?" enquired the barber, solemnly.

"Guess it is," drawled Glen, "if the handle don't break."—Toronto Star Night.

Accident At Diamond City

A Miner — Baptist Pastor Announces His Resignation

Diamond City, Feb. 6.—While working on the track clearing snow in a cut near the Lethbridge collieries Mike Pilota, who had been riding on the engine in some manner fell off and was severely injured, his leg sustaining a compound fracture and his head was cut in several places. It is not known just how the accident occurred, as no one saw him fall. He was hurried to the hospital here, and is now resting as well as can be expected. He had only been here about two weeks previous to the accident.

J. T. D'Arcy has returned from a week's visit in Lethbridge. Fred Hopkins, butcher, of Lethbridge and Royal City, about to open a butcher shop in Diamond City, under the management of his son, W. J. Hopkins. We sincerely hope he will be able to cater to the people of Diamond City as satisfactorily as he has to the people of Lethbridge and Royal City. Jas. Patterson, of this city, has the contract for the building.

We regret to announce that Rev. A. R. Park and wife will be leaving Diamond City in a week or two. Mr. Park made the intimation from his pulpit last Sunday evening that on the following Sunday he would preach his farewell sermon. The high altitude on which all taxes had been paid or Alberta has not dealt kindly with the health of Mrs. Park, and medical advice recommended a change.

Death at Stirling

Stirling, Alta., Feb. 7.—Last night George Pettifore, of New Stirling, passed away. Mr. Pettifore has been suffering for some time from stomach trouble, which caused his death. Mr. Pettifore was a painter by trade and came from England to Raymond, a few years ago, from where he came to Stirling about a year ago. The deceased was 41 years old, and leaves a wife and two sons.

The character ball Friday evening was a great success. Mr. Desmond Lee representing an Indian, and Miss Myrtle Smith representing the Gypsy, took the prizes.

Mrs. John Oler presented her husband with a fine baby girl on Feb. 6.

Riley Clark, who just returned from the homestead region east of here, reports that a number of the cattle in that district are dying from the severe cold.

The changeable weather lately has caused a great deal of lagrippe among the children.

STARTED TO DRINK DIED IN BAR ROOM

Hamilton, Feb. 7.—Having in his pocket a loving message from his wife in England and a letter printed in childish characters by one of his children, saying how glad she was her daddy had not drunk anything this year and hoping he would never drink again, Edward Thomas went from the post office in Dundas to the Osborn bar and began drinking yesterday afternoon. As he raised a glass to his lips he fell backwards. George Richardson, with whom he boarded, and another friend, helped him home, but when they reached his place they found that they were carrying a corpse. Thomas was 43 years old and worked for the Valley City Seating Company. He left his wife and three children in England, when he came out here three years ago. An inquest will be held.

An old frigate is moored in a canal close to the most fashionable section of Copenhagen. On it is a school of ship cooks. There is an awning on deck. Tables are laid, and numerous inhabitants of Copenhagen take their meals there, for they are both varied and inexpensive, such as are served to passengers on sea voyages.

One of the most brilliant functions witnessed recently at the imperial court of Berlin was the presentation of a number of American by Ambassador David Jayne Hill and Mrs. Hill who were assisted by their daughter, Miss Catherine. For many of the Americans, it was their first appearance before royalty. Mrs. Hill and her daughter are favorites in German court circles, and are among the most popular of the official representatives of the United States in foreign society.

The story of the week centres about Glen Campbell, the good natured giant from Dauphin. He walked into the Russell barber shop, and the deaf canonical artist began to operate. As the steel passed over his face Glen began to squirm.

An Expert's Opinion
A student in a medical college, while learning the use of the ophthalmoscope was told to examine a man's eye and report upon the condition of it.

The doctor then adjusted the instrument and looked long and searchingly into the subject's left optic.
"Most remarkable," he ejaculated, with a surprised look. Readjusting the ophthalmoscope, he again carefully scrutinized the eye. "Very extraordinary, indeed," he exclaimed. "I never heard of such an eye. This must be some new disease. Have you ever had an expert's opinion on it?"

"Once," was the laconic reply. "The man who put it in said it was a fine bit of glass."—Argonaut.
